

"You can be a little bit in love and a little bit sick, but you can't be a little bit married or a little bit dead."
—continuous Christmas cheer in "Beauty and Nick" for all over seventeen. Given to him—to her—you've introduced a tip-top friend rare enough to respond when needed. Gibbs' best work will be an ever-sympathetic crony for homeless husbands, lonely ladies, and normal women.

Edition after edition so quickly sold that for nearly four weeks we were unable to supply a copy.

—homeless HUSBANDS

(there are now millions of you—mere money-getters for her)

lonely LADIES and

(you, too, single and married, are in the millions)

normal WOMEN

(how many?—in this new born cycle of Venus-Midas)

—if you want a Comrade, a Chum, or a Husband

—use eye, mind, tongue, and soul to get one like Nick. If successful, you will possess the greatest of all male prizes—a man who will protect you from himself. Father-trained youngsters like Nick are as rare as the "stuttering woman" in "KEYSTONES OF THOUGHT."

Every man who loves or ever will love a woman MUST read "Beauty and Nick." Every woman, single or married, SHOULD read "Beauty and Nick." Every husband and every wife who prefer a baby to a dog—a home to a domestic kennel—will SURELY read "Beauty and Nick."

SIR PHILIP GIBBS' BEST WORK, "BEAUTY AND NICK"

If you want a friend, a pal—a WIFE!—look for one like the Lonely Lady in BEAUTY AND NICK.

Problem Stuff? Not a single or married line of it. How can there be anything problematical or mathematical in love, jilt-lured but straight from the heart and soul of an honest Husband-Reared youth like NICK?

And how can there be anything worth a chalked cipher in the scattered affection of a woman brainy, brilliant, beautiful as Beauty, but minus of soul as a mummy and with a heart that shifts and softens only to the love whispers of a trousered check book?

"Spiritual Pastels" is truly a gift for life—and for eternity.

NO woman has ever wielded greater influence over those in her care—influence for a superb womanhood—than the author of SPIRITUAL PASTELS. A New York father was so impressed with the worth of SPIRITUAL PASTELS and with the graces and endowments of its author that he sent his daughter to the College where J. S. E. guides. With such a guide, such an exemplar, he is happy in the assurance that the one he loves will surely be something more than an educated snob—a prospect for a money marriage and thence the Divorce Court—in this socially shallow age.

SPIRITUAL PASTELS

By J. S. E. (A NUN)

With an Assuring Appreciation by Rev. Joseph M. Woods, S. J.

Literally the heart and soul communings of an intelligent, educated, cultured woman—a Nun—with an all-wise Christ, the Christ of the masses—of the poor, not the golden-crossed Christ now dollar-owned by the richest men in the world and capitalized by them and others as a means to an end.

Just the book for daily reading. If your prayer book is not at hand take "Spiritual Pastels" to Church (any church) instead—thus following the example of a New York Public School Teacher. If you don't go to church—if you are agnostic, even atheistic, "Spiritual Pastels" won't argue or quarrel with you, but it will—positively will—inspire and comfort you. If you are inclined to sneer at "the kind of religious stuff the servants get," read "Spiritual Pastels" and then you will commend it to your domestics—and to yourself.

"Spiritual Pastels" is as foreign to kitchen theology and drawing-room cant as Heaven is to the Rogues' Gallery.

Beautifully Illustrated

Edition after edition of this really inspiring work has been sold. "Spiritual Pastels" will be sent to any reader of The Herald, and your money promptly refunded if even slightly disappointed.
